

Hello Everyone....My name is Master Eric and I am a X Boxer looking for a wonderful new forever loving home.

I am only a youngster at about 1 year to 18 months old. I was just walking about minding my own business trying to find my home, I was so hungry I couldn't even remember the last time I ate anything, when along came a nice Lady that took me to Battersea, I can't remember where I used to live and my 'then' owners haven't bothered to find me :0(....how can some humans just not bother, I am sure I was loved as a baby, but what went wrong after that heaven alone knows, it's so sad.

I'm a sturdy little chap and they even measured me in height at Battersea, I'm 21 inches from paw to shoulder and I love all you humans, you have all been so kind to me, I get lovely food and lots and lots of cuddles. Auntie Tracy at Battersea has tucked me under her wing and she takes me for lovely walks each day, but then we get back and I have to stay in my kennel again, I so want a home of my own, a real home with people that will love and care for me.

I am a good boy and will 'sit' when you tell me too, Auntie Tracy taught me to do this, she's a lovely lady and I do love her too bits XX

Sadly she cannot take me home with her as she already has a boy of her own, and this is my ONLY problem I have.....I do not like other dogs that much, females that will play with me are fine, but big boisterous dogs worry me and those little dogs really do scare me!! It's not my fault no one has ever taken the time to socialise me around all other dogs, as long as they leave me alone I am fine, but if another dog comes up to me full on, then I will react.

I would need a home without another pet, but I am brilliant around children I just love to play play with them. All grown ups love me as I am so good; it's just this thing about being around other dogs that worry me.

I'm a fine looking chap even if I do say so myself, but everyone else that I meet tells me this as well :0) so I'm not being big headed....xx

I am too young to be castrated just yet so you as my new family will have to see to this for me, but I am fully up-to date on my vaccinations, and I have been de-flea'd and wormed....

If you feel you can offer me this wonderful new home I so desperately need please contact my special Auntie Dawn on 01406 490350 we will all be waiting for that call.

Can you guess what I am crossed with, so many breeds have been mentioned by no one knows for sure, the one thing they all know is that I have BOXER in me :0)

Love and licks
Master Eric
